CRUNCHYROLL SERVES UP LADIES VS. BUTLERS WITH ENGLISH DUB!

(New York, New York) Media Blasters Inc. and Crunchyroll are proud to announce the exclusive North American premiere of the popular 12-episode anime series, LADIES VS. BUTLERS boasting a new English dub for streaming in October (date to be announced). Crunchyroll is the leading global video streaming service for Japanese Anime and Asian media and most recently teamed up with Media Blasters to premiere the newly dubbed HOLY KNIGHT.

LADIES VERSUS BUTLERS is a hilarious, super sexy harem series based on Tsukasa Kouzuki's light novel series. The story follows the wild trials and tribulations of Akiharu Hino, one of the few male students at a servant-training academy for butlers and maids. The students are put through a grueling training program to serve an eccentric and demanding aristocratic clientele. For Akiharu, everyday is an erotic obstacle course through a maze of hard-to-please lusty ladies who often want more than just proper table service.

Media Blasters has produced a new English language dub for the highly anticipated series and have spared no expense in bringing together a top-notch cast of voice talent from across the U.S. and Canada. Dubbing director Brittany Lauda proclaims, "I'm really excited to bring on board such a variety of talent from the anime industry." In the lead role of Akiharu Hino is rising star Daniel J. Johnson (YuGiOh Arc V, YuGiOh Zexal, Pokemon XY) with veteran Carrie Savage (XXXHolic, Kenichi: The Mightiest Disciple, Fairy Tail) co-starring as Selnia. Ms. Lauda proudly adds, "We've also brought on talent like Bryn Apprill (Attack on Titan, Soul Eater Not!, Show By Rock), Genevieve Simmons (Mysterious Girlfriend X, Mayo Chiki, Campione), Brendan Hunter (HUNTERxHUNTER, Cardfight Vanguard, Dragon Ball) and Michele Knotz (Pokemon, Queen's Blade, Genshiken) to name a few!" MB VoiceWorks provided casting services and sessions were recorded at Media Blasters' Sound Factory in New Jersey.
